👤 About Me

- In my second year at Velammal Institute of Technology, I'm immersed in my pursuit of becoming a skilled Full Stack Developer. It all started with the fundamentals: HTML and CSS. As I delved into these languages, I didn't just stop at understanding them; I put my knowledge into action by embarking on various projects. These projects weren't just exercises; they were my playgrounds for experimentation and growth. Each line of code was a step forward in honing my skills. And to showcase my progress and share my journey with the world,

- I diligently uploaded my projects to my GitHub repository. The thrill of creation and the satisfaction of seeing my work come to life fueled my passion to pursue Full Stack Development wholeheartedly.
